Big enough to deliver, small enough to care

Deciding on the right IT service, installation and support partner is an important process. Your chosen provider needs to understand your business objectives, and offer a reliable service, which provides you with peace of mind. This will be demonstrated through the delivery of projects on time and to budget and evidenced by clear tracking and management visibility.

This, coupled with and up-to-the-minute technology solutions and an implementation and maintenance programme should satisfy the most robust company requirements, as laid out by you and your teams.

Here at EIT we have supported and continue to manage a high-profile customer base with an enviable track record in client satisfaction. Our aim is simple; to continue to deliver as we have done for over 15 years and ensure we push our standards continually, to be best in class amongst our peers.

We operate a minimum disruption policy, so after an initial consultation meeting and subsequent detailing of your exact requirements, we will present a project plan with clear, measurable milestones by which you can track our progress.

Costs

Ensure you consider the full end-to-end cost of your project. So often companies forget the installation fees or assume the implementation is a charge but the maintenance is 'included'. Working with EIT guarantees you complete visibility of the costs required at every stage.

Skills

Our installation teams are all accredited and have years of experience across our range of services, from network infrastructure to cabling, and more.

People

Our project managers work to PRINCE2 methodology, and our engineers are trained and equipped to work efficiently, ensuring we remain qualified and competitive.

Service

Our low-cost, turn-key service can supply, configure, install and test your systems. Everything we do meets ISO 9001 standards.
